Developmental Math Reform Status Report, October-November 2015

Achievements in this period

All departments that will be affected by the course changes have agreed to the changes, and submitted a written statement to that effect. All paperwork needed to add the courses have been submitted, and are progressing well. ALEKS placement scores have been determined for the new courses, as well as for all of our other entry level courses, since we are making a slight change in our placement system; which better allows practice and additional attempts for students.

Key Decisions

Placement cutoffs, and the new PPL system for placement.

Goals for next period:

Begin building the courses; deciding what format they will be in; materials, structure, etc. Determine what resources, training, etc will be needed.

Open Issues:
